Project Clean Slate's Detroit Expungement Newsletter

welcome back!

National Expungement Week is that special time each year where we focus on helping folks clear old convictions from their records - giving them a fresh start. Why is this so crucial? Because everyone deserves a chance to move forward without old mistakes casting long shadows over their future.

Project Clean Slate showcases that our city isn't just built on Motown and automobiles, but on the shared belief in second chances. In Detroit, we understand the importance of leaving the past behind and embracing the future with open arms. Let's champion those new beginnings - together!

Our National Expungement Week celebrations were off the charts!

We kicked off National Expungement Week by offering an ICHAT (criminal record) update day at the Mathis Community Center on September 16th. We helped over 100 applicants update their ICHATs. Now, they can move forward in the process and have their records reviewed for expungement eligibility!

MEET THE PCS TEAM

Chadan is a native Detroit native who worked as a court clerk before joining PCS. Chadan is responsible for client intake, client appointment scheduling, and certified record requests. Her favorite part of working with PCS is being a part of life changing events. As a court clerk, it was gratifying for Chadan to see the relief and joy expungement brought people. Now that she works on an expungement team, she is able to participate in the process and hear from PCS clients post-expungement about their clean slates and how important expungement is to them.
