How the Board of Police Commissioners Investigates Complaints Against DPD

The City Charter makes the Board responsible for investigating complaints about police misconduct through its Chief Investigator and Office of the Chief Investigator (OCI). The office handles the process for receiving and investigating citizen complaints about non-criminal misconduct. All OCI staff members are civilian employees.

In its consent decree with the City of Detroit, the U.S. Department of Justice defined the term misconduct as any conduct by a DPD employee that violates DPD policy or the law. The Justice Department defined the term complaint as an allegation from any source of any misconduct by DPD personnel. OCI only investigates non-criminal complaints. OCI must forward complaints about possible illegal or criminal acts to DPD Professional Standards.

If you have a concern about policy violations or misconduct by any Detroit Police Department employee, you have the right to file a complaint.
