

“Though I suffer and am torn loose from my fourteen-month-old baby, I feel it is my duty to the womanhood of the race. If I am freed I shall return and live at my home on Garland Avenue.”

– Gladys Sweet

